

Pardon us, Indianapolis...

Do you know where our mayor is?

NYC Mayor Bill de Blasio left behind a city that most New Yorkers say is headed in the wrong direction in order to talk up his “accomplishments” at the U.S. Conference of Mayors this weekend.

With public safety slipping, police morale at rock bottom, and multiple federal corruption investigations swirling through City Hall, no wonder he wanted to get out of town.

NYC Mayor Bill de Blasio: Taking Us Backward Since 2014

Patrolmen's Benevolent Association of the City of New York

125 Broad Street, 11th Floor, New York, NY 10004 • 212-233-5531

Patrick J. Lynch, President

www.nycpba.org