

Police Graduate Studies Program

M.A. in Human Resources Training & Development

Seton Hall University offers a Master's Degree Program in Human Resources Training and Development (HRTD) in two models: on-line and off-campus. The on-line program makes it convenient to earn a graduate degree without the weekly travel or interference with work schedules. This 24-month, 36-credit hour program is offered exclusively in learning teams with no residency required! The off-campus program meets on weekends at the GWB, Fort Lee, NJ. It follows the same requirements, i.e.: 36 credits, two year track on the average. The faculty is composed of mostly retired NYPD and other law enforcement personnel with earned graduate and doctoral degrees. AMOS receives a 50% discount on tuition. For those members with MAs, we now offer an off-campus Ed.S. Education Specialist post graduate/pre-doctoral degree also at the GWB. Please contact Professor Sean McGee at 973-761-9389, and/or Dr. Dom Varricchio at dr.dom@verizon.net. There is still time to enroll in either master's model for the Fall 2017 semester.

Our web site is <http://www.shu.edu/academics/setonworldwide/mahrtd/index.cfm>.